

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 10th day of November, A. D. 1900, executed by William E. Hall and his wife, E. Hall, his wife, of the City of Owasco, Michigan, to Albert K. Olsen, of the same place, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Shiawassee, in Liber 72 of Mortgages, on page 59, on the 14th day of November, 1900, at two o'clock p. m.

And whereas the said mortgage has been duly assigned by the said Albert K. Olsen to George B. Siskum, by assignment bearing date the 14th day of May, 1900, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Shiawassee on the 14th day of May, 1900, at one o'clock p. m. in Liber 83 of mortgages, on page 111.

And whereas the said mortgage has been duly assigned by the said George B. Siskum to Myron H. Knapp and Fred W. Smith, by assignment bearing date the 27th day of May, 1900, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Shiawassee on the 3rd day of June, 1900, at two o'clock p. m. in Liber 92 of mortgages, on page 123, and the same is now owned by them.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is one hundred thirty-four dollars and eighty cents ($134.80) of principal and interest, and forty-four dollars and eighty-three cents ($44.83) of taxes paid on mortgaged premises and interest thereon, and the further sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) as an attorney fee stipulated for in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage, to wit: One hundred eighty-eight dollars and fifty-four cents ($188.84) and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises, there described, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in the City of Owasco, on the 7th day of January, 1901, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day; which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to wit: Commencing at the southeast corner of block number two (2) of A. Crawford's addition to the City of Owasco; thence west along the north line of King street eight (8) rods; thence north sixteen (16) rods; thence east along the west line of Congress street to the place of beginning.

Dated this 9th day of October, 1900.

Typewriter

The Standard Visible Writer.

You can write any of these things yourself if you do not happen to have a stenographer.

For you can easily learn, with a little practice, to operate the OLIVER, just as perfectly, as an operator on the OLIVER. Because the

OLIVER is the simplest typewriter. And you can see every word you write. About 90 per cent more durable than any other typewriter, because it has about 80 per cent less wearing points than most other typewriters.

80 per cent easier to write with than these other complicated, intricate machines that require "humorous"—technical knowledge—long practice and special skill to operate.

Than machines which cannot be adjusted to any special space—with which it is impossible to write contracts, insurance policies, or other

DOWNWARD COURSE.

Fast Being Realized by Owasco People.

A little backache at first. Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders quickly follow: Diabetes and finally Bright's disease. This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of an Owasco citizen.

Mrs. J. W. Smith, of 527 Mason street, says: "For a number of years my kidneys were a source of great annoyance to me. I had constant pain and soreness through the small of my back and in my kidneys. If I attempted to lift anything of any weight it hurt me severely and when I stooped and tried to straighten could scarcely do so on account of increased pain. The kidney secretions presented an unnatural appearance and were disordered and I felt generally run down in health. Some days seemed fairly well, others were miserable, was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box from Johnson's drug store. They suited my case exactly and relieved me in a very short time."

FACES LIFE SENTENCE

Charles Owen Guilty of Attempt to Murder Wife.

CONVICTED IN DETROIT COURT

Little Woman Maimed For Life by a Razor in Hands of Brutal Husband—Dramatic Trial Brought to a Close

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—Charles Owen was today sentenced to Marquette for life, for the attempted murder of his wife, last June.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 20.—Charles Owen, on trial for the attempted murder of his wife, was Monday found guilty in Judge Connolly's court.

White to the lips, the prisoner tried for the attempted murder of his wife sank till his face was covered with his hands. His young wife, supported by her mother and friends, left the court room immediately and almost collapsed in the hall.

"I'm so relieved," she whispered, "if he'd been released, I'd have been in my coffin by this time tomorrow."

During the last moments of the trial Owen seemed to undergo a complete change. The man who cut his wife's throat, who sat morose and evil-eyed during the first three days of the trial, who sought by every means in his power to defame and malign the woman he had sworn to cherish and protect, broke down and cried like a child.

Four Alternatives.

Judge Connolly's charge occupied 20 minutes, and gave the jurors four alternatives, assault with intent to kill and murder; assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than murder; assault and battery; or acquittal. The jury left the court room at 5:12 p. m. and had been out just three-quarters of an hour when the announcement came that it had arrived at a decision. "Assault with intent to kill," was the verdict.

Sentence was not pronounced Monday, the prisoner being remanded to jail until today, when he will be brought up for sentence with Vladislav Felinski, recently convicted of the murder of Joseph Mielke.

The maximum penalty for the crime of which Owen is convicted is life imprisonment.

Dramatic every detail has been the trial of Charles Owen, who one day last June slashed his wife's throat with a razor.

Owen during the first portion of the trial, feigned insanity, and sat with his head resting on his breast. When the wife, whom he had wronged, went on the stand, however, he began to "sit up and take notice," and any thought of insanity which may have been in the minds of the jury were soon dispelled.

On the fateful day in June, Mrs. Owen was walking with her mother, Mrs. Cushtay, along Farmer street, when Owen rushed out; grabbed his wife, and slashed her throat. The wound fatally healed, but left the little woman almost speechless, she having not been able to talk above a whisper since.

Perhaps the most eloquent and pathetic testimony ever heard in a Detroit court room came when Mrs. Owen struggled to tell the jury how her husband wronged her. It was only when she moved her chair to the very edge of the jury box and strained her voice to the utmost that she could make herself heard at all.

Narrates Story of Assault.

"I was going to the police court," said Mrs. Owen, speaking very painfully. "My solicitor, Mr. L. J. Seaman, who was conducting my suit for divorce, was with me and also my mother and my baby. On Farmer street near Monroe, a man ran up and before I could get out of the way I felt the edge of the razor on my throat. I didn't know it was my husband then. He lifted my chin, like this, and made two slashes at me."

In showing the jury how her head had been thrown back, Mrs. Owen pulled down her high collar, and revealed two long, blue marks across her throat.

Mrs. Owen told of several occasions when her husband had threatened her life, and how once he chased her out of the house with a knife.

Relatives who testified during the trial showed that Owen had an ungovernable temper, and had made terrible threats when in one of his moods.

Marries Millionaire.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 20.—Miss Anna Laughray, formerly of Bay City, will on Thursday become the bride of Henry Chisholm, son of Wilson G. Chisholm, a millionaire, and one of Cleveland's most prominent citizens. The wedding will take place at the parish house of the cathedral of St. Johns, Rev. Fr. Farrell officiating.

Another Democratic Solon.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 21.—Henry J. Zacharias, the young Polish merchant of this city, has been declared elected state representative by 94 majority by the county canvassing board, over young Tom Baillie, a friend of John Baird. The inspectors' returns were missing in the twentieth ward, whose ballot box had been opened before it was examined by the board. It was feared the vote in this ward would be thrown out, but the board finally accepted a tally sheet.

FIND MONEY UNDER CARPET.

Old Furniture Went Fast at Auction Sale After That.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—People who attended the auction sale of the household effects of the late John Mullin, 235 Vinewood avenue, were astounded when $17,000 in gold was discovered carefully hidden beneath a carpet in one of the bedrooms. When news of the discovery spread, an army of eager purchasers thronged the old homestead in the hope that they might bid in something that would reveal hidden gold.

For many years it was believed that the late John Mullin had hoarded his money away in strange hiding places and the people who attended the sale thought that even the most insignificant articles of furniture might contain a fortune. The $15,000 that was discovered was turned over to the estate by the auctioneers, Kemberling & Bronson.

JOB FOR DR. NEFF.

Understood, He Will Be Placed at the Head of Lapeer Institution.

Lapeer, Mich., Nov. 20.—It is given out by a man prominently connected with the Lapeer home for the feeble-minded, that Dr. L. H. Neff, of Pontiac, will be appointed to succeed Supt. Polglase, recently resigned.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Three Rivers Man Is Badly Mangled—No Witnesses to Accident.

Three Rivers, Mich., Nov. 19.—William Daniels, aged 25 years, was killed in some unknown way here Saturday night by a Michigan Central freight train.

His body was found Sunday morning terribly mangled, and the only means of identification were the tattoo marks on his arm.

It is not known in what manner he came to be killed, and it is not known what train struck him.

Mr. Daniels leaves a father, mother one brother and two sisters.

Lived 101 Years.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Mary Ann LaPrise, for many years a well known figure among the east side French families, is dead at the age of 101 years, at the home of her daughter Mrs. C. Goudie, 595 Larned street east. The weight of her hundred years neither dimmed Mrs. LaPrise's intellectual power nor her sight, nor did it cause her to live only in the past. Until the very last she was keenly interested in current events and often passed sage judgment on men and manners of these times. Her appetite was the very best. Every day she walked out and not a morning in recent years has she missed going to St. Joachim's church to her daily devotions. Mrs. LaPrise was born in St. Lawrence near Montreal, in 1805.

Finds Long-Lost Sister.

Owasco, Mich., Nov. 17.—W. J. Oslander, of Plymouth, formerly of this city, left Owasco Friday for Manistee to visit his sister whom he has not seen for 45 years. Mr. Oslander lost track of his sister shortly before the civil war, and after a search extending over a period of ten years, gave her up for dead. This summer, the sister's daughter, Mrs. John Coakley, casually revealed to Oslander at the G. A. R. national encampment, that Oslander was her mother's maiden name. A comparison of notes followed and it was soon revealed that the long-lost sister was in the land of the living.

Many Illegal Hunters.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 20.—Never before in the history of upper Michigan has there been such an invasion of hunters as has attended the opening of the present season, and the charge is made that never before in the history of the peninsula have so many illegal hunters been in the woods. It is claimed that many of the men are non-residents of the state for whom accommodations in counties at a distance from the hunting grounds selected have secured resident licenses at $1.50 each, which is a saving of $23.50.

Frozen to Death.

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 19.—Daniel Landers, an aged resident of Ripley, froze to death during Friday night's storm. His body was found beside the road at an early hour Saturday. He evidently started to go home while under the influence of liquor and must have struck something in the blinding snow storm which rendered him unconscious.

Would-Be Suicide Foiled.

Benton Harbor, Nov. 21.—Frank Cook, aged 17, attempted to take his own life here Tuesday by drinking carbolic acid, and was prevented by the bottle being knocked from his hands as he had it to his lips. It was the intention of the lad to take the fatal dose and then jump into the canal. Monday night Edward Brummel's plumbing shop was robbed and suspicion fell on Cook. After some harsh words with Brummel, the boy left the office, announcing that he would commit suicide.

Kills Deer From Train's Coach.

Monroe, Mich., Nov. 21.—Attorney E. C. Eastman shot and killed a deer from a coach window while a hunting party was returning from a week's trip, and the Wisconsin & Michigan train backed up to permit the recovery of the deer. An unusual number of deer have been killed by local hunters, who report
